

Durant, Jennah

From: Durant, Jennah
Sent: Wednesday, August 02, 2017 2:40 PM
To: Taheri, Diane; Gray, David; Bokun, Lisa
Cc: Hubbard, Joseph
Subject: FW: ACTION: Fair Warning (Dan Ross) [7/10] OPEN, Georgia Pacific plant in Crossett AR, DDL: Friday, 8/4

This reporter emailed again about his questions below on Crossett.

From: Gray, David
Sent: Monday, July 10, 2017 2:26 PM
To: Durant, Jennah <Durant.Jennah@epa.gov>
Cc: Hubbard, Joseph <Hubbard.Joseph@epa.gov>
Subject: Re: ACTION: Fair Warning (Dan Ross) [7/10] OPEN, Georgia Pacific plant in Crossett AR, DDL: open

Talk tomorrow

Sent from my iPhone

On Jul 10, 2017, at 3:24 PM, Durant, Jennah <Durant.Jennah@epa.gov> wrote:

From: Daniel Ross [<mailto:dross1@gm.slc.edu>]
Sent: Monday, July 10, 2017 2:06 PM
To: Durant, Jennah <Durant.Jennah@epa.gov>
Subject: Georgia Pacific plant, Crossett

Hi Jennah --

This is Dan Ross, the reporter with FairWarning, working on the story about the Georgia Pacific plant in Crossett, Arkansas.

There are a few things I'm trying to figure out.

- One concerns a triennial review, purportedly being conducted currently. I was wondering what information you can provide about that review: how long the review will take? What exactly are you looking at as part of the review? Is the EPA coordinating with the Arkansas Department of Environmental Quality on the review? How long will it take?

- I understand that EPA conducted a number of inspections of GP towards the end of last year. I was wondering what information (reports, etc...) you can provide on those inspections - is the EPA still working with GP to negotiate a resolution?

- Lastly, I was wondering what information you can provide as to any follow up (and possible enforcement actions) taken about toxic hazardous waste stemming from GP that was dumped on the land of a private citizen called Ken Atkins. In a documentary titled Company Town, about the legacy of contamination from the plant, an EPA inspector acknowledges the possible illegal contamination, but I can't find anything online about any follow up enforcement actions taken.

Sincerely,

Dan Ross
(323) 482 8911
@1danross